

Pizza Sales Analysis using SQL

By Aman Kabsuri

Project Objectives

1

Analyze Sales Data

Deep dive into pizza sales to uncover patterns.

2

Understand Customer Behavior

Identify preferences and ordering habits.

3

Identify Key Trends

Spot top-selling items and revenue drivers.

The Dataset

Four Core Tables

- Orders: Transaction details
- Order Details: Item-level specifics
- Pizzas: Size and price information
- Pizza Types: Categories and ingredients

A comprehensive view of our pizza business.

Tools & Techniques

MySQL Workbench

Powerful database management.

SQL Mastery

Queries, aggregations, window functions.

Data Joins

Connecting disparate data sources.

Data Aggregations

Summarizing complex information.

Fundamental Analysis

17K

Total Orders

Insights into customer activity.

$817K

Total Revenue

Overall financial performance.

$35.95

Highest Priced Pizza

Premium product offering.

Product Insights

Most Common Pizza Size

Large pizzas dominate orders, suggesting a preference for bigger portions or group orders.

Top 5 Most Ordered Pizza Types

- The Classic Deluxe Pizza
- The Barbecue Chicken Pizza
- The Hawaiian Pizza
- The Pepperoni Pizza
- The Thai Chicken Pizza

Peak Sales Hours

Orders are concentrated during evening hours, with a significant spike around dinner time.

Average pizzas ordered per day: ~450 pizzas.

Revenue Drivers

Top 3 Pizzas by Revenue

- The Thai Chicken Pizza
- The Barbecue Chicken Pizza
- The California Chicken Pizza

These premium pizzas contribute significantly to overall revenue.

Category-wise, Chicken pizzas lead in revenue contribution.

Advanced SQL Insights

01

Percentage Contribution

Revealing impact of individual items on total revenue.

02

Cumulative Revenue

Tracking growth and performance over time.

03

Top Pizzas Per Category

Identifying leading products within each segment.

Key Business Takeaways

High-Impact Pizzas

A few specific pizzas drive most of the revenue.

Large Size Popularity

Customers prefer larger pizza sizes.

Evening Peak

Sales surge during dinner hours.